

Improve your English with ‘The Economist’ and an expert online tutor!

- Do you want to improve your analytical reading and oral discussion skills?
- Do you want to understand world affairs better?

You can do BOTH by studying articles from ‘The Economist’ online with the guidance of our expert tutor.

You can choose from SIX categories to study:

- International Politics
- Business and Economics
- Science and Technology
- The Environment
- Books and the Arts
- Obituaries of amazing people who have influenced the world in many different ways

You can choose to focus on just one or two categories, or read, study and analyse articles in all categories – you can follow your own preferences...

Your online tutor

John Case is a graduate of Oxford University with many years of experience teaching students of many different nationalities, ages and levels of English in the UK, Scandinavia, Africa, the Middle East and South America. His extensive travels have given him a wide knowledge of world affairs and a keen interest in different world cultures.